Program – Majestic Batiks – Reba Worotikan

Reba began her story with a brief explanation of her family-owned business. She shared a video from one of the villages that her business works with to make the batiks from one of the many islands that make up Indonesia. She talked through more about how they make batiks after the video. Each production works with 11 meters of cotton (hoping that will make a batch of 5 bolts). Dye comes from Germany, cotton fabric from the cotton markets (Japan, India).

Reba then shared a beautiful collection of panel batiks that are not used for quilting, but for making clothing or used as clothing by wrapping them around to make skirts.

Reba's brick-and-mortar facility is just outside of Corvallis.
