Viki West January 15 Workshop…

Peggy Galbrich's Hunter's Star

Friday, January 15, 2027, 9:00-4:00, $45* plus $5 for the pattern

Viki West is a quilter and an active leader in the Oregon Coastal Quilters Guild. Viki served as the President of the Oregon Coastal Quilters Guild (and has led executive and general meetings for the organization). She participates in guild challenge quilts, retreat planning, and "Show and Share" events showcasing her projects like stack-and-whack quilts. She has also given demonstrations on techniques like quilting on a domestic sewing machine.

*$55 + $5 for non-members

Viki shares: I have been quilting for over thirty years and love trying new techniques. (Which is probably why I have so many UFOs.) A Hunter's Star quilt had always been on my bucket list, but all the patterns I found were for paper piecing, and I really don't like to paper piece. I had actually purchased a set of papers to make a quilt. Then in 2016 good fortune shined upon me; Peggy Gelbrich came as the guest speaker at the Emerald Valley Quilt Guild in Eugene, and she taught a non-paper pieced Hunter's Star class. I have now made six Hunter's Star quilts using her method. When Peggy came to OCQG last year I told her how much I liked her technique, and she said: "I am retiring, why don't you teach the class."

If you register for the class, you will receive a hand-out with fabric requirements and cutting instructions for either a two-color quilt or a three-color quilt ranging in sizes from mini (15 x 21), lap (56 x 68), or queen/king (92 x 104). Skill: All levels
